- Dated: 28. 08. 2009

Dear Sir,

This is for your attention that I have examined the Ph.D. thesis of N. PALANIVELU, Head & Lecturer in Dept. of Commerce, SRI VENKATESHWARA COLLEGE OF ARTS & SCIENCE, PERAVURANI, THANJAVUR DISTRICT, Thesis entitled “A STUDY ON MARINE FISHERIES IN THANJAVUR DIETRICK – WITH SPECIAL REFERENCE TO MARKETING AND SOCIO- ECONOMIC CONDITIONS OF FISHERMEN” under the guidance of Dr. A. Jalal, Reader & Research Advisor, Research Department of Commerce, Khadir Mohideen College, Adirampattinam, Thanjavur -621 701, TamilNadu.

Evaluation Report (Merits & Shortcomings)

Regarding Merits & Shortcomings of the thesis, my comments are as follows:

The thesis on “A STUDY ON MARINE FISHERIES IN THANJAVUR DIETRICK – WITH SPECIAL REFERENCE TO MARKETING AND SOCIO- ECONOMIC CONDITIONS OF FISHERMEN” submitted for the awarded of Ph.D. degree is a research study. The study covers the period for five years i.e. 2001-2006, which was completed on the basis of availability of data to analyze the marketing and socio economic background of the fishermen.

Practically this study aims to analyze the growth & development & the status of Labour Fishermen in the coastal areas of Thanjavur, Tamilnadu. Number of six objectives are to be considered by the researcher including different statistical models for the study.

Interview technique was adopted for collecting data from the fisherman of mechanized boat, canoe boat and fibre boat. A survey was undertaken covering 500 members among these samples 40 per cent (200) was taken after strating them in to broad categories. Sample of the 250 families of canoe boats, 25 families from fibre boats and 50 families from mechanized boat of labor fisherman and 25 craft owners in canoe, 25 crafts owners in fibre boats and 50 owners in mechanized boats of owner fisherman are selected. Fish marketing area 50 middlemen were undertaking using random sampling.

Other further comments for the study are as follows;

1. The title of the thesis is very important & consistent.
2. No. of six chapters are arranged in a very systematic way.
3. To prepare the thesis both primary & secondary data is to be considered.
4. The study period covered during 2001-2006 but information is indicated in the page no. 21 (Data mentioned 1971-2000), 1976 i.e. back dated data is used.
5. All the selected objectives are very much clear for the study.
6. Scattered data is presented by the researcher like,
 - a. World fishing countries in the year 1995 (Ch. No. 1 Page no. 6)
 - b. Per capita consumption of fish in few countries for 1995 (Ch. No. 1 Page no. 7).
 - c. Marine fish production in India for 1990-98 (Ch. No. 1 Page no. 18).
 - d. Export trends in Indian marine for 1990-2001 (Ch. No. 1 Page no. 19).
 - e. Supply and demand for fish in India for 1971-2000. (Ch. No. 1 Page no. 21)
7. The followed methodology of the study is also appropriate to arrive at the objectives of the study.
8. The chapters' components are designed well for the same.
9. The specific suggestions are proposed, which are very much effective.
10. Bright prospects are indicated by the Researcher, which are more creative.
11. Bibliography of the study is well cited.
12. Practically the thesis has no shortcomings at all.

Subject to all mentioned matters the 'Ph.D. Thesis' submitted to the BHARATHIDASAN UNIVERSITY by N. PALANIVELU, under the guidance of Dr. A. JALAL, the sound performance of the Researcher in the whole thesis, I recommend that N. PALANIVELU be awarded the degree of Ph.D. in Commerce by your University.

Thanking you
Yours faithfully

Ref. : No. 42124/ Ph. D. / CE / Com./ 1607 / 8526

- Dated: 28. 08. 2009

Dear Sir,

This is for your attention that I have examined the Ph.D. thesis of J. J. JEYAKUMARI, Lecturer in Commerce, Kundavai Nachiyaar Govt. Arts College for Women (Autonomous), Thanjavur – 613 007, thesis entitled “COOPERATIVE DAIRYING IN THANJAVUR – A CASE STUDY OF THE PERFORMANCE OF THANJAVUR DISTRICT COOPERATIVE MILK PRODUCERS’ UNION LIMITED” prepared under the guidance of Dr. A. JALAL, Reader and Research Advisor, Research Department of Commerce, Khadir Mohideen College, Adirampattinam, Thanjavur 614 701, Affiliated to Bharathidasan University, Tiruchirappalli.

Evaluation Report (Merits & Shortcomings)

Regarding Merits & Shortcomings of the thesis, My comments are as follows:

The thesis on “COOPERATIVE DAIRYING IN THANJAVUR – A CASE STUDY OF THE PERFORMANCE OF THANJAVUR DISTRICT COOPERATIVE MILK PRODUCERS’ UNION LIMITED” submitted for the awarded of Ph.D. degree is a research study. The study covers the period for ten years i.e. 1996-97 to 2005-06, which was completed on the basis of availability of data.

Practically this study aims to analyze the performance & status of Cooperative Dairying in Thanjavur, Tamilnadu. Number of six objectives are to be considered by the researcher including six number of hypotheses are already been tested through the different statistical models in the study.

Multi-stage random sampling method has been adopted in this study including 150 beneficiaries of the union, constituting 25 members each from 6 sample societies were interviewed for the study. Out of the 113 functional primary milk cooperative societies (as on December 2005) of the union five percent i.e. 6 societies were selected as sample societies for the study.

Other further comments for the study are as follows;

The title of the thesis is very important & consistent.

No. of seven chapters are arranged in a very systematic way.

To prepare the thesis both primary & secondary data is to be considered.

All the selected objectives are very much clear for the study.

In the 2nd Chapter, numbers of related studies are reviewed in the area of cooperation and dairy cooperatives & the concepts related to the subject of inquiry issues are presented by the researcher.

The chapters' components are designed well for the same.

The followed methodology of the study is also appropriate to arrive at the objectives of the study.

Chapter No.3, deals with the profile for the same having important five sections

Chapter No. 4, shows the Indian Dairy Scenario during 1950-2004. Researcher mentioned that India carries the credit rank as a largest milk producer followed by United States in the world.

The specific suggestions are proposed, which are very much effective.

Bright prospects are indicated by the Researcher, which are more creative.

Bibliography of the study is well cited.

Practically the thesis has no shortcomings at all.

Subject to all mentioned matters the 'Ph.D. Thesis' submitted to the BHARATHIDASAN UNIVERSITY by J. J. JEYAKUMARI, under the guidance of Dr. A. JALAL, the excellent performance of the Researcher in the whole thesis, I recommend that J. J. JEYAKUMARI be awarded the degree of Ph.D. in Commerce by your University.

Thanking you
Yours faithfully

Ref. : No. VU / R / Ph. D. / 282 / 09 - Dated: 28. 07. 2009

Dear Sir,

This is for your attention that I have examined the Ph.D. thesis of PRODIP KUMAR DASH, Selection Grade Lecturer, Research Scholar, Department of Commerce, Vivekananda Mission Mahavidyalaya, Chaitanayapur, Purba Medinipur, West Bengal, Pin. -721 645, Ph. D. thesis entitled “A STUDY OF THE INLAND FISHERIES IN THE DISTRICT OF MIDNAPORE” prepared under the guidance of DR. KARTICK CHANDRA PAUL, Professor of Commerce & Coordinator, DEPT. OF COMMERCE WITH FARM MANAGEMENT, VIDYASAGAR UNIVERSITY, Dist.; Paschim Medinipur, West Bengal, INDIA.

Evaluation Report (Merits & Shortcomings)

Regarding Merits & Shortcomings of the thesis, My Comments are as follows:

The thesis on “A STUDY OF THE INLAND FISHERIES IN THE DISTRICT OF MIDNAPORE” submitted for the awarded of Ph.D. degree is a research study. The study covers the period for 1993-94 to 2000-01 (as indicated, due to unavailability of official Data) which was completed on the basis of availability of data.

Practically this study aims to analyze the status of the inland fisheries in the district of Midnapore. Number of six objectives are selected by the researcher including number of six hypotheses are already been tested through the different statistical models in the study.

Due to the unorganized nature of data structured & unstructured questionnaires are used by the researcher.

To supplement the data both primary & secondary data is used. Although it is an unorganized sector, systematic data are not kept, yet Researcher tried to arrange data within a particular period of time.

Researcher also tried to compare the position with the neighboring districts i.e. Howrah & Bankura.

To complete the study both structured and random sampling methods are used, divided the entire population (320) in to four strata based.

Selected statistical tools are used to highlight the selected aspects of Inland Fisheries based on objectives & hypotheses for the study.

Other further comments for the study are as follows;

a) The title of the thesis is very mush important & consistent.

Eight chapters are arranged in a very systematic way.

All the selected objectives are very clear for the same.

In the 2nd Chapter, nature of fish Cultivation in Midnapore District are identified well.

In the Chapters' components are designed well.

The followed methodology of the study is also appropriate to arrive at the objectives of the study.

The specific problems are identified by the Researcher in the chapter no. six.

Bright prospects are indicated in the chapter no. seven properly, which are more creative.

Recommendations & Suggestions are very much effective.

Bibliography of the study is well cited.

Practically the thesis has no shortcomings at all.

Subject to all mentions matters the 'Ph.D. Thesis' submitted to the VIDYASAGAR UNIVERSITY by PRODIP KUMAR DASH, under the guidance of DR. KARTICK CHANDRA PAUL, the excellent performance of the Researcher in the whole thesis, I recommend that PRODIP KUMAR DASH be awarded the degree of Ph.D. in Commerce by Your University.

Dear Sir,

This is for your attention that I have examined the Ph.D. thesis of S. DEVAKI, Research Scholar, Department of Commerce, Bharathiar University, thesis entitled “DIVIDEND POLICY OF INDIAN CORPORATE HOTELS : AN ANALYSIS OF TRENDS AND DETERMINANTS” prepared under the guidance of DR. D. KAMALAVENI, Reader in Commerce, Post –graduate and Research Department of Commerce, VELLALAR COLLEGE FOR WOMEN, ERODE, TAMILNADU, INDIA.

Evaluation Report (Merits & Shortcomings)

Regarding Merits & Shortcomings of the thesis, My Comments are as follows:

The thesis on “DIVIDEND POLICY OF INDIAN CORPORATE HOTELS: AN ANALYSIS OF TRENDS AND DETERMINANTS” submitted for the awarded of Ph.D. degree is a research study by use of statistical tools for Trends & Determinants for the study. The study covers the period for 1997-78 to 2006-07 and completed on the basis of availability of data.

Practically this study aims to find out whether the value of the firm is independent or dependent of its dividend policy. Number of seven objectives are selected by the researcher including number of ten hypotheses are already been tested through the different statistical models in the study.

As stated by the Researcher in the Chapter No. 1, to complete the research studies No. of 152 sample companies are to be considered in different areas of India. Due to unavoidable factors finally 25 companies are considered for the study. So, the companies were chosen on the basis convenient sampling. The sample companies are classified on the basis of revenue history, dividend history having three sizes of companies like Small-size Companies, Mid-size Companies & Large-size Companies. This sample companies are also categories into payers & non-payers over the period of the study.

The attempts were taken by the Researcher to collect data from the source of primarily secondary from the electronic corporate database PROWESS mentioned by Center for Monitoring in Indian Economy (CMIE) and CAPTALINE database for the study. For measuring the growth of selected companies different essential growth models are used in the study. Another further comments for the study are as follows;

The title of the thesis is very mush important & consistent.

- Six chapters are arranged in a very systematic way.
- All the selected objectives are very clear for the same.
- In the 2nd Chapter, numbers of studies have been reviewed during 1956 to 2007 to analyze corporate dividend paying behavior based on national & international scenarios.
- In the Chap. 3,4,5 & 6 all components are designed well.
- The followed methodology of the study is also appropriate to arrive at the objectives of the study.
- Researcher has been carried out carefully to find out the effects of ownership pattern on the dividend policy of the companies, regarding this five models are used for the study.
- The impact of dividend policy is judged through the selected statistical tests for the selected companies in India.
- To analyze the dividend payments selected analyses & interpretations of the study are very much organized.
- Findings of the study are also creative.
- Conclusion & recommendations are very much effective
- Bibliography of the study is well cited.
- Practically the thesis has no shortcomings at all.

Subject to all mentions matters the 'Ph.D. Thesis' submitted to the Bharathiar University by S. DEVAKI, under the guidance of Dr. D. Kamalavani, the excellent performance of the researcher in the whole thesis, I recommend that S. DEVAKI be awarded the degree of Ph.D. in Commerce by your University.

Evaluation Report (Merits & Shortcomings)

Regarding Merits & Shortcomings of the thesis, my comments are as follows:

The thesis on “ACCOUNTING INFORMATION SYSTEMS AND ITS APPLICATIONS : A STUDY OF SOME SELECTED COMPANIES IN INDIA” submitted for the awarded of Ph.D. degree is a research study by use of strategic and techniques based supported decision tools analysis. The study is an empirical in nature. The study covers the period for 2007 and the research is completed on the basis of availability of data.

As stated by the Researcher in the chapter no. 8, Number of 50 sample companies are located in different areas / parts of India. The companies were chosen on the basis convenient sampling. The attempts were taken by the Researcher to collect data from the sources of primary & secondary for the 33 companies responded design by the selected questionnaire and profile of the sample companies have been discussed well by the different sections for the study.

Questionnaire was prepared and copies were sent to all the selected sample companies in the year 2007.

The emphasis was given to find out the selected areas i.e. importance of AIS, process of AIS, area of application, report generation capability of AIS, decision making with help of AIS, security and control aspects of AIS, qualitative characteristics of AIS etc.

In order to get generic & specific results, the study was prepared in various segments of the selected industries across the country. The segments chosen were Manufacturing Segment, Banking and Financial Services Segment, and Service Segment (which includes IT sectors and IT enabled services sector). The number of 50 companies were approached, out of them 33 companies (66%) responded, out of which 4% were Manufacturing (Mfg.) Companies, 24.2% Banking & Financial Services (BFS) Companies & 27.2% Services Companies. Another comments for the study are as follows;

- The title of the thesis is very much important & consistent.

- The objectives of the study are very clear.
- The review works of the study are also relevant based on collected reports & library work.
- The followed methodology of the study is also appropriate to arrive at the objectives of the study.
- To use of AIS simple description statistics are used. The impact of AIS is judged through the selected statistical tests for the selected companies in India.
- Analysis & Interpretations of the study are very much organized.
- Findings of the study are also creative.
- Conclusion & suggestions are very much effective.
- Bibliography of the study is well cited.
- Practically the thesis has no shortcomings at all.

Subject to all mentions matters the 'thesis' submitted to the Dept. of Commerce, Kalyani University, West Bengal, India by Ms. Nupur Mukherjee, the excellent performance of the researcher in the whole thesis, I recommend that Ms. Nupur Mukherjee be awarded the degree of Ph.D. in Commerce by your University.
